CONFERENCES

Anthropology of Gender in the Balkans: Focusing on Historical Transformations and Analytical Strategies - Goettingen, 09-10 September 2019

The workshop “Anthropology of Gender in the Balkans” has two goals. First, it aims to bring together anthropologists who explore gender in the Balkans ethnographically to present their work and to connect. Second, it aims to invite its participants to discuss how they research and write about gender dynamics, hierarchies, oppressions, and inequalities in the Balkan countries, without reiterating the problematic discourse about the backwardness of the region and the need for the Balkans to catch up with Europe. Application deadline: 20 July 2019

European Rust Belts - and Beyond - Regensburg, 7-8 May 2020

Our conference attempts to stimulate a comparative discussion of the divergent developments of heavy industries in Europe since 1970. We seek to promote East-West comparisons in order to identify differences and – even more importantly – similarities. What role did social actors such as managers, workers, trade unions, political parties, and government officials play in these processes? The (power) relations between them seem to have been a crucial factor. The manifold responses to the crisis, the importance of temporality and space and (non-)interventions by the state, the changes in shop-floor relations and work organizations are also topics of interest. Comparative and Transnational Perspectives on Women's Cinema in the GDR and Poland 1945-1989 - Leipzig, 14-16 November 2019

The workshop aims to encourage reflection on the position of women in Polish and East German socialist film industries and film cultures. The goal of the workshop is not only to highlight examples of film- and media-related work by women, but also to expand existing methodological approaches as well as to develop new comparative and transnational modes of evaluating Central and Eastern European woman's film-making in its various sociopolitical, ideological and aesthetic dimensions. Spain, Europe and the End of the Cold War. 1989 Thirty Years Later – Madrid, 7-8 November 2019

Thirty years after the fall of the Wall, it seems opportune to reflect on the repercussions that the crisis of so-called "real socialism" and the end of the Cold War had for Spain and Europe. For this reason, we invite the research community to submit papers related to the following thematic areas... \(Read more\)

PUBLICATIONS

Pavlaković, Vjeran, Davor Pauković (eds.), Framing the Nation and Collective Identities: Political Rituals and Cultural Memory of the Twentieth-Century Traumas in Croatia (Routledge, 2019)

This book analyses top-down and bottom-up strategies of framing the nation and collective identities through commemorative practices relating to events from the Second World War and the 1990s "Homeland War" in Croatia. With attention to media representations of commemorative events and opinion poll data, it draws on interviews and participant observation at commemorative events to focus on the speeches of political elites, together with the speeches of opposition politicians and other social actors (such as the Catholic Church, anti-fascist organizations and war veterans' and victims' organizations) who challenge official narratives.
